PowerNET Web File Sharing (PNWFS) is a web server designed to allow a user to download and upload files by simply using a web browser. Unlike other alternatives such as WebDrive, WebDav, or WebDAV, PNWFS is a HTTP server. It does not require additional software to be installed on the client computer or the client machine's operating system. It is designed to allow the user to download and upload a variety of file types, including.exe,.zip,.rar,.arj,.mp3,.avi,.mpg,.mp3,.mpg,.avi,.avi,.zip,.rar,.exe,.zip,.rar,.exe,.exe,.zip,.exe,.exe,.zip,.rar,.zip and any other media that you can think of. PNWFS is a windows service. A service is a process that is designed to run automatically in the background. The service exists and runs regardless of whether or not the computer is running. PNWFS can be run from an administrative start menu. Use the menu tools -> Services and then select the start menu option. Then in the list of services, find PNWFS in the list and right click -> start, and select properties and then click on the schedules tab. Double click the PNWFS application and then click start. If you are using MS Windows 2000 or higher, you will be required to enter a password. PNWFS will remember your pass phrase as long as you are logged into the same Windows NT server. If you are using Windows NT4, you won't be prompted to enter a password. Using PNWFS you can expose any specific folder from your system to the internet. In addition, you can control access to the files by assigning users specific permissions. PNWFS lets you assign permissions at both the file and folder level. There are four major types of permissions: Deny access (DROP), Deny access (read only), Allow access (READ), and Allow all users (READ, WRITE, EXECUTE) PNWFS also lets you assign groups of users permissions. Let's say you have a group of family members that want to be able to access your documents. You can setup the permissions to allow only members of the family to access the files. ----- File sharing with PowerNET has never been easier! In addition to your web browser, you can use PowerNET's simple download manager, it doesn't matter what type of media you want to download, you'll be able to! Downloads can be initiated from any windows file manager (explorer), you may also download files from a web browser, this is similar to how it used to be with a web browser. Download Manager: PowerNET's download manager is a simple tool you can use to initiate file downloads from a web browser. Download Manager displays the list of files available to download from the server. Download Manager automatically connects to the appropriate site (website), depending on the type of media (RAR, ZIP, PURE Zip, TXT, etc.) you're downloading. You can switch from one site to another by clicking on a link within the list. You can choose to start the download of a single file, a folder of files, or multiple files at the same time. PowerNET downloads can be watched in the background, or manually controlled, if you like. The download manager is suitable for downloading media (RAR, ZIP, PURE Zip, TXT), but it can also download files such as: exe, dll, pkg files, mp3, avi, mpg and any other file that you can download using a browser. -----

Download Manager Usage Instructions: 1. After clicking "Start" in the download manager, it may require you to click the "OK" button and see "Download Manager" again in order for it to start. 2. Please note, that you must have Microsoft Internet Explorer downloaded to the computer and set as default (Tools > Internet Options > Click the "Set the default web browser button" > Default web browser). 3. PowerNET will connect to the server and retrieve data files, and determine what the best media (RAR, ZIP, PURE Zip, TXT, etc.) is for the files you want to download. 4. Now you can click on the appropriate link for the file type you want to download. 5. When a file has been downloaded, PowerNET's download manager will notify you by placing a desktop icon, "Downloads" folder icon, or notification in the system
