Checking your computer's memory Windows has a tool to help you find all the files you've stored on the computer. It goes by the name of `_Computer Management._` To open Computer Management, click Start⇒Computer and select Computer Management from the list of items. You see the window shown in Figure 12-10. As you can see, this is a lot of information. But don't worry. What you're looking for here is the Disk Defragmenter option. Click that option and you see a small window with two icons. The first icon represents the Disk Defragmenter. Click the icon and you can use the program to defragment the disk. **Figure 12-10:** The Computer Management window shows all the information about your hard drive. | --- | --- Click the Small or Large icons to enable the Disk Defragmenter.
