Photoshop is an extremely powerful tool that can be difficult to learn and use. Photoshop CC allows you to edit images and color, and create graphics, logos, and illustrations. The new features of Photoshop CC enable users to create layouts, photos, and video. You can easily create templates and access a suite of industry-standard creative tools that include brushes, text, and vector illustrations. This easy-to-learn, full-featured graphics package has improved performance and speed when creating documents. The best features of Photoshop are the workspace, tools, and ability to work with images. Using the interface and tools takes some getting used to as you learn a new program. Learn to work with the tools and the interface through the tutorials. It is very time-consuming to learn the ins and outs of a new program. Photoshop comes with some helpful starter tutorials, but it takes a lot of time and practice to master the workflow. # Adobe Photoshop for iPad This application was created for creative professionals who use iPad to design and create work in Photoshop. Many of the features are similar to the desktop program, but it enables users to work faster, more efficiently, and more easily on an iPad. The app is great for people who need to create a variety of graphics, such as photos, advertisements, and logos, but must do so from an iPad. If you don't have Photoshop CC and you don't want to invest in the software you can also use this app, but you'll want a laptop, desktop computer, or a smartphone to use this. # Photoshop Mobile This is a paid app for Apple iPhone and iPad

The Japanese Cabinet on Monday approved a $2.65 billion loan that aims to provide a lifeline to the country's teetering automakers, as Tokyo investigates whether U.S. carmaker General Motors is breaking state laws governing auto exports. The 15-year loan, backed by a guarantee from the Government Pension Investment Fund, "will be used to fund a restructuring of the domestic automotive industry," the Finance Ministry said in a statement. The move comes less than a week after Japan's largest automaker, Nissan Motor, and GM, Japan's biggest carmaker, separately said they had agreed to collaborate on sales and marketing operations. The agreement is a preliminary step to Nissan and GM's eventual merger, which could create a global leader in automotive sales and manufacturing. GM and Nissan both said earlier this month that they are restructuring their operations to prepare for the consolidation and would be making an announcement this week detailing their plans. Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe and his Cabinet plan to decide the final details and put the deal before parliament on Monday, according to a person with knowledge of the situation. The Cabinet is expected to approve the merger as early as Tuesday, that person said. Depending on the details, the plan could face strong opposition in Japan, where GM faces anti-Japanese sentiment on the rise. Immediately after GM's announcement, a commercial truck maker allied with Abe's ruling Liberal Democratic Party, Japan Truck maker Freightliner Corp., said the company would halt plans to build its first North American plant in western Japan. The company's decision was unrelated to GM's deal, spokesman Matt Lease said. Foreign brands, whose sales volume in Japan has fallen for the last five years, account for about a third of the country

Q: Form creating with CKEditor not working I have CKEditor 3.4.8 installed. I have installed CKEditor on a project not hosted on heroku. The installation was done as per the instructions here: Everything worked fine on my localhost dev machine. Then I uploaded the project to heroku and checked the webpages. After that nothing works. Only html textarea shows up. My guess is that this has something to do with encoding. When I create a form using the FormBuilder for CKEditor, I create something like this: `$builder->add('form_settings', 'textarea', array('attr' => array('class' => 'form-control'), 'label' => 'Form Settings'));` What should I do to fix this? A: The problem is that it's not the encoding, it's the default browser encoding. There's a hidden input element with a name attribute in the form, whose value is the charset of the page. You can easily fix the problem by adding to your CKEDITOR_GET_CONTENT_HEIGHT() function the following, to detect the browser encoding and change the settings accordingly: `if ($editor->getDataContainer()->hasDirectlyControlledNodes()) { foreach ($editor->getDataContainer()->getNodes() as $node) { if ($node->is('input')) { // Change the content-type to application/xhtml+xml. $doc = $node->getDocument(); $doc->setHeader('Content-Type', 'application/xhtml+xml;charset=' . $doc->getHeader('Content-Type')); } }`
